

Treasury Department,

BUREAU OF THE MINT,

Washington, D. C., May 22, 1886.

Sir:

Your armament now is so considerable that for the proper custody and care of your Gatling guns and Springfield rifles it seems desirable that an armorer should be appointed.

The question therefore arises whether any workmen now in the Mint Service can be assigned on part time to this duty without special appointment.

Please advise me in this matter as to your own views, the object, of course, being to keep the arms for which you are responsible in good condition and preservation.

Very respectfully,

Hon. Danl. M. Fox,

Superintendent Mint,
Philadelphia.

James F. Lindall

Director of the Mint

NARA RG104, Entry 1, Box 139

Treasury Department,
Bureau of the Mint,
Washington, D.C.,
May 22, 1886

Sir:

Your armament now is so considerable that for the proper custody and care of your Gatling guns and Springfield rifles it seems desirable that an armorer should be appointed. The question therefore arises whether any workmen now in the Mint Service can be assigned on part time to this duty without special appointment.

Please advise me in this matter as to your own views, the object, of course, being to keep the arms for which you are responsible in good condition and preservation.

Very respectfully,
James P. Kimball
Director of the Mint

Hon. Danl. M. Fox,
Superintendent Mint,
Philadelphia.